††††††††

O Canada!

Our home and native land!

True patriot love in all thy sons command.

With glowing hearts we see thee rise,

The True North strong and free!

From far and wide,

O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

God keep our land glorious and free!

O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

Pastoral Message

Catherine Pain is an artist and illustrator from the United Kingdom. Besides designing and publishing greeting cards, she illustrates for The Tablet, an International Catholic News Weekly. When I discovered her Remembrance Day design I wanted to share it with you on our bulletin cover today. I emailed Catherine requesting permission to use her artwork and she replied that she would be thrilled to have us use it. You can view her artwork on her website <http://catherinepain.co.uk>. She would like us to acknowledge The Open University (<http://www.open.edu>) which was the first people to publish her work.

Catherine's bleeding poppy speaks volumes. It provocatively reminds us of the tragedy of war. We proudly wear our poppies to commemorate the great sacrifice of those who serve in our Armed Forces both now and in the past to defend our freedom and democratic values, and to promote peace and justice in the world.

"Choose life so that you and your descendants may live" (Deut. 30:19). Anyone who decides to "choose life" in this sense realizes that it often involves sacrifice. For many of us that sacrifice is in the nature of giving of our time, our talents, or our money. It can also sometimes involve sacrificing a relationship that will lead us astray or an addiction that we find it too easy to gratify.

In St. John's Gospel Jesus says, "No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends." (15:13) Standing up for what we believe to be right can be very challenging and no one is more aware of this than the men and women of our Armed Forces. We wear our poppies as a tribute to them.

Fall Family Event – November 5th

Everyone is invited to this gathering organized by The Youth and Family Ministry Committee. It begins in the church hall right after the 10:30 service today. There's lunch for everyone to be followed by games for the young people. Everyone is welcome to stay and observe or join in the games, or simply enjoy one another's company. Parents of the children who decide to leave early are reminded that they should return to pick up children at 3:30.

In Sympathy

Our prayers and thoughts go out to the families of Ernest Wilberforce Smith who died on October 25th and of Paul Layton Stone who died on November 1st.
